

All health and social care services in the UK have Duty of Candour responsibilities. This is a legal requirement which means that when things go wrong and mistakes happen, the people affected understand what has happened, receive an apology and organisations learn how to improve for the future.

An important part of this duty is to provide an annual report about the duty of candour in our service. This short report describes how the Amwell care home has operated the duty of candour during the period from 1st April 2024 to the 31st of March 2025. We hope you find this report useful.

The Amwell is a Luxury care home in Leicestershire, located in the rural market town of Melton Mowbray, adjacent to the river Eye. Our care home offers 88 beautifully decorated ensuite bedrooms. Our care home is based on the belief that all residents deserve to live a full and meaningful life; our team of qualified care professionals takes pride in catering to a diverse range of care needs, which extends to those living with Dementia. We provide around the clock care to older people, offering activities and opportunities to lead an active social lifestyle. Our commitment to promoting independence while upholding dignity.

Within the last 12 months, there have been 2 incidents at the home, to which the duty of candour applied. These are where types of incidents have happened which are unintended or unexpected, and do not relate directly to the natural course of someone's illness or underlying condition.

Types of Unexpected or Unintended incidents specified within the legislation.	The number of people affected
Someone's sensory, motor, or intellectual function is impaired for 28 days or more.
Someone has experienced pain or psychological harm for 28 days or more.
A person needed health treatment to prevent them from dying.
A person needed health treatment to prevent other injuries.	1
The structure of someone's body changes because of harm/injury.	1
Someone's treatment has increased because of harm.
Someone's life expectancy becomes shorted because of harm.
Someone has permanently lost bodily, sensory, motor, or intellectual functions because of harm.
Someone has died.

--	--

When we realised the events above had happened, we followed the correct procedure. This means we informed the people affected, apologised to them in person and in writing, and offered to meet with them and their family. We reviewed what happened and what if anything, went wrong to try and learn for the future.

If something has happened that triggers the duty of candour, our staff report this to the Home Manager who has responsibility for ensuring that the Duty of Candour procedure is followed. The Home Manager records the incident or accident and reports it as necessary to the Care Quality Commission, the local contracting authority, the Regional Director, and the Quality Director, for the company. When an incident or accident has happened, the Home Manager and staff set up a learning review. This allows everyone involved to review what happened and identify changes for the future.

All new staff learn about the duty of candour at their induction. We know that serious mistakes can be distressing for staff as well as people who use care and their families.

In response to the residents who experienced harm; in consultation with the individuals and their family, we reviewed their care and support plans, and introduced additional measures, including e.g., the use of falls technology and ensuring that interventions were in place appropriately.

We also on another incident which resulted in changes to procedures around food temperatures at the point of service .

Duty of candour informs our learning and planning for improvements as a service, and as a company. It has helped us to remember that people who use our services have the right to know when things could be better, as well as when they go well.

As required, we have made this report available to the regulator but in the spirit of openness, we have published it to share with our residents and their relatives too.

If you would like more information about our care home, please contact us using these details:

Aarti Popat – manager@theamwellcare.com

Jane Prior - Jane.Prior@careconcerngroup.com